U.S. SUBS SINK BIG JAP SHIP

6,000-Ton Transport Goes Down With Likely Loss of 12,000 Troops

(By Associated Press)
Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today that an Allied submarine had sunk a 6,000-ton armed transport with the probable loss of 12,000 Japanese troops in the waters of the southwest Pacific, while four Japanese midget submarines were listed as sunk in the abortive raid on Sydney harbor last Sunday.

Previously, only three of the tiny two-man Japanese undersea raiders had been reported sent to the bottom.

Three More Hit
In addition to the Japanese troopship, United Nations headquarters said an Allied submarine sank two heavily-laden Japanese supply ships and damaged a third. A communiqué also reported that Japanese submarines operating close off the east coast of Australia attacked three Allied cargo ships and sank one of them, but indicated that the other two escaped undamaged.

Amid these thrusts at Australia's shipping, suggesting an attempted blockade of the down-under continent, the war on China's east coast raged on with mounting fury.

A Tokyo broadcast asserted that Japanese offensives were forging ahead in three Chinese provinces—Shankang, Kwangtung and Kiangsi—where Japanese troops had broken through the outer defenses of Chungking, key rail city in western Chinese province.

A Japanese army spokesman said Japan's opening of a new front in Kiangsi province "serves as a final warning" to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese armies to give up their "meaningless resistance or accept the alternative of annihilation."

SHOVEL OPERATOR CRUSHED TO DEATH

EAST PALESTINE, June 4.—Roy Woods, 39, of S. Market st., was crushed to death by the gears of a power shovel at the National Fireproofing Co.'s strip mine a mile southeast of here at 9:30 a. m. today.

Woods, operator of the shovel, apparently became caught in the machinery while attempting to make a repair. His crushed body was not discovered until about an hour later and it was quite awhile afterwards before it could be extricated.

He leaves his wife, Edith Simon Woods, four children, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Woods of East Palestine.

RESUME SUGAR CHECK FRIDAY

Hours Set for Registration, For Canning, At Memorial Building

The Salem rationing board announced today that the registration of applicants for canning sugar would be resumed Friday.

The new applications will be received Friday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 1 to 4:30 p. m. at the Memorial building.

Applicants are requested not to come between the hours of 12 and 1 so that the registrars may go to lunch. An extension beyond Friday will depend upon the number of applicants, ration board officials said today.

All certificates for sugar canning were mailed yesterday to those who made application on Tuesday. These persons are NOT to register or make application again, it was explained.

Sugar certificates were issued on a basis the board estimated would be adequate for spring canning of strawberries, cherries, etc. The applicant will be given another certificate in the fall for the difference between the current certificate and the amount allowed for the full year.

Applicants must bring their war ration books for each member of the family applying for canning sugar to aid in proper registration. No stamps will be removed. Sugar applications for canning must show names of each member and the number of their war ration books.

Those who do not have war ration books may apply for canning but must declare the sugar they have on hand.

Applicants must be prepared to give the board an itemized account of the number of quarts of fruit put up last year. The applicants also are to be prepared to give the board inventory of the number of quarts on hand.

The Salem rationing board will hold its regular meeting tonight. No applications for canning sugar will be accepted at this meeting although requests for war ration books will be heard from 8 to 8:30 p. m.

The board's official business tonight will concern tire and tube applications and inquiries concerning sugar for canning should not be made until Friday.

E. LIVERPOOL BAND TO PLAY IN SALEM

The East Liverpool Salvation Army band will appear at the local tonight for a public concert.

The band, directed by Rome F. Prescott, will furnish music in connection with the evangelistic meetings being conducted here by Envoy J. T. Adams. The band will parade and give a street concert at Broadway and State st. at 7 p. m. The public is invited to the meetings.

BRITISH BOMB BREMEN PORT

Commandos, In Meantime, Scout Nazis' French Coastal Defenses

LONDON, June 4.—British bombers blasted Bremen, Germany's second seaport, and British Commandos fruitfully scouted the Bologne-Le Touquet area of Adolf Hitler's French coastal defenses overnight, government agencies announced today.

The Bremen raid, 94th of the war, was linked with an attack on the Dieppe docks and the air ministry announced that 10 bombers and two fighters were missing from the night operations.

A strong RAF force flew through moonlit skies to strike at Bremen's shipbuilding and submarine yards, docks, railways, steel works, oil refining installations and an aircraft factory in a follow-up to the mass raids upon Cologne and Essen. Only Hamburg ranks ahead of Bremen as a German maritime center.

Commandos Hit
Black-faced Commandos, escorted by navy warships and protected in their withdrawal by RAF fighters, stabbed across Dover strait after midnight on a reconnaissance raid officially declared to have produced "valuable information."

It was the second Commando thrust against the Boulogne-Le Touquet area, scouted before on April 22. Boulogne lies 25 miles south of Dover and Le Touquet is 15 miles farther south. Between them is a coast of dunes and marshes.

SIX EXPLOSIVES MAKERS INDICTED

Conspiring To Fix Prices Charged by Federal Grand Jury

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and company, five other explosive manufacturers and 10 of their officials were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of conspiring to fix prices in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Also named were the Hercules Powder company and the Atlas Powder company, both of Wilmington, Del.; the Austin Powder company of Cleveland; Illinois Powder Manufacturing Co., St. Louis; and the King Powder Co., Cincinnati.

The 10-page indictment contended that the effect of the alleged conspiracy was to "maintain the prices of commercial explosives and blasting supplies to all classes of consumers at high, arbitrary and artificial levels."

The indictment also charged that the defendants controlled 75 per cent of the total volume of commercial explosives and blasting supplies produced in the nation.

BUTCHER OF MORAVIA DIES AS HE KILLED

Czech Government In London Asks Countrymen To Stand Firm

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN (From German Broadcasts). June 4.—Reinhard Heydrich, 38, reichs protector for Bohemia and Moravia, died in Prague this morning of wounds suffered in an attempt on his life May 27, it was announced officially today.

(The assassination is expected to bring about the shooting of hundreds of hostages in addition to the 163 already slain in swift reprisals, Czech circles in London asserted.)
London sources declared Heydrich recently was appointed Gestapo chief for occupied Europe and it was pointed out ironically that the "Butcher of Moravia" died in virtually the same manner as hundreds of hostages he had ordered shot in France, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Poland and other countries during his hated career.)

From Czech Army
(A Czech source in London said automatic rifles used by two men to shoot Heydrich were from the ordnance of the disbanded Czech army. The Czech government appealed by radio to the Czechs to stand firm against the Gestapo, bloodshed and not disclose those connected with the shooting.)

Forty-six more Czechs were reported executed by the Germans yesterday in bloody reprisals for the attack on Heydrich, bringing to 163 the total number who have died before Nazi firing squads in the protectorate. Twenty-nine women were included in the total.

London Czech sources predicted today that hundreds of an estimated 5,000 hostages rounded up would be executed by the Gestapo in addition to those already shot.)

The Berlin radio announced that Heydrich was wounded at 1 p. m. May 27 on the Berlin-Prague highway within the limits of greater Prague.

Big Reward Offered
A reward of 100,000,000 crowns ($235,000 at the last quoted rate of exchange in May, 1941) was immediately offered for his assassins and martial law was proclaimed in Prague.

(Quoting dispatch from Stockholm, Tass, official Soviet news agency, said last Monday that the Heydrich case had come as a thunderbolt.)

GOVERNOR BRICKER FILES PETITIONS

COLUMBUS, June 25.—Republican Governor John W. Bricker formally launched his third term candidacy today by filing his declaration of candidacy petitions with the secretary of state.

"I believe I can do more, both toward the winning of the war and the preservation of our system of self-government, in the office which I now occupy than any other place. I am therefore declaring my candidacy for reelection as governor of Ohio," the executive said in a formal statement accompanying the filing of his petitions.

The executive declared his administration has had two definite purposes in the war program, giving all possible aid to the federal government and maintaining local government in orderly condition.

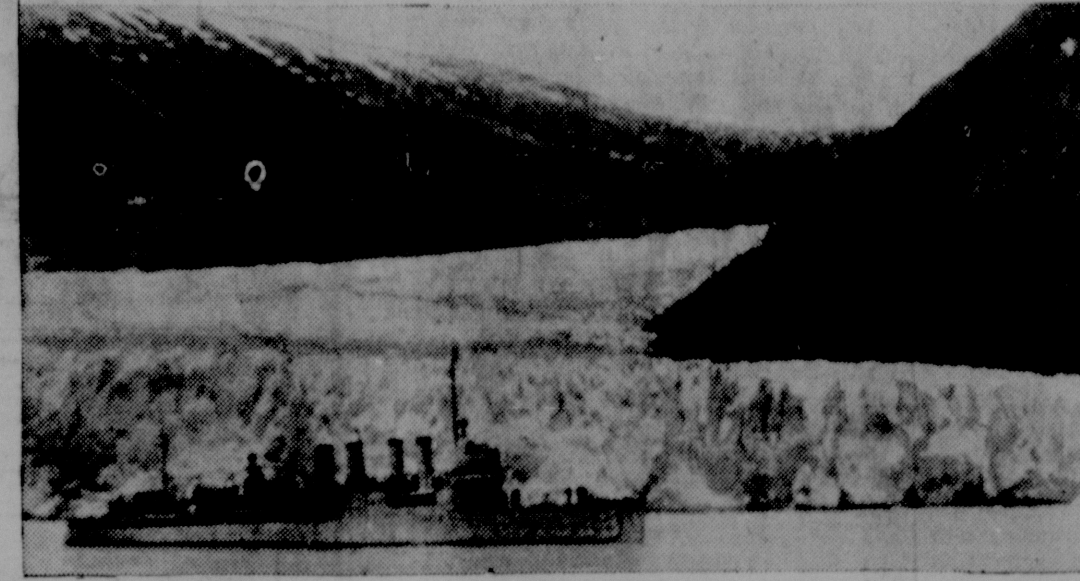

In a short review of his four year stewardship the governor said he had found the state burdened with debt when he assumed office in 1939, but that now all debts have been paid or there is money in the treasury to pay them, and still have a net surplus of more than $13,000,000.

The governor's petitions contained 10,000 signatures from all the 88 counties. He said he still had 100,000 additional signatures which he did not intend to file. Only 1,000 signatures are necessary to qualify a candidate for the primary.

Speeder Denied Tires

YOUNGSTOWN, June 4.—Municipal Judge Robert B. Nevill's plan, whereby names of convicted speeders are turned over to the Mahoning county tire rationing board, bore fruit today, when the board refused the application of an unnamed "fast driver" for either new or recapped tires.

United States Base Where Japs Staged Retaliatory Raid

ATTY J. P. HUXLEY DIES IN HOSPITAL

Former Mayor of Salem For 2 Terms Succumbs In Youngstown

Att'y Jared Paul Huxley, 68, of Youngstown, who was Salem's mayor for two terms, from 1898 to 1902, died at 1:55 a. m. today in North Side hospital, Youngstown, of pulmonary embolism.

Att'y Huxley, well known in public, professional and social circles in Youngstown and Salem, had been in ill health for the past few years. He had gone south last winter for his health and returned, unimproved. The latter part of April, however, he was forced to enter the hospital.

A former Mahoning county prosecutor, Att'y Huxley was the senior partner of the law firm of Harrington, Huxley and Smith.

Born In Ellsworth Twp.

He was born on a farm in Ellsworth township, Mahoning county, July 13, 1873, the son of Philo and Evaline Cessna Huxley.

He received his early education in the Salem public schools and graduated from the University of Cincinnati law school in 1895, when he was admitted to the Mahoning bar.

Three years later he was married to Margaret Dow, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dow, and a sister of the late Mrs. Nellie Gibson of this city.

Shortly afterwards he left Youngstown to come to Salem where he was elected mayor for two terms. He was a Republican.

He was then known as Salem's youngest mayor. His name is still inscribed in the glass of a city hall window, scratched on the pane with a diamond ring which Mr. Huxley wore.

He returned to Youngstown in 1903 to resume his private law practice and in 1917 was elected prosecuting attorney of Mahoning county. He served one term and was elected for a second, resigning during the year.

BANQUET PLANNED BY GOSHEN ALUMNI

Dr. Paul Bennett of Alliance Will Be Speaker At Exercises Scheduled Friday

DAMASCUS, June 4.—Invitations have been issued for the Goshen Township High School Alumni banquet to be held Friday in the High School auditorium. The dinner will be served by the Band Mothers organization.

Officers of the Alumni are: President, Raymon Weingart; vice president, Jay Barnett; secretary and treasurer, Miss Jean Redman.

Juhulor Rhodes is chairman of the decorating committee.

Dr. Paul Bennett of Alliance will be the speaker; Ralph Steer the toastmaster and Leo Copacia, Jr., of Salem will furnish the music. The welcome will be given by Raymon Weingart and the response by Curtis Chambers.

NUTRITION CLASS MEMBERS SOUGHT

A second call has been made for men, women and children to join the nutrition class meeting Monday at the Memorial building, which has been organized to meet possible emergency conditions.

This class provides a well organized and well trained unit. Leaders are anxious to have several hundred members.

After a course of 10 days the group will be divided into smaller groups with captains and given necessary training to set up field and casualty stations.

The class also trains women to feed any member of the armed force going through Salem without funds. Many soldiers have made entire trips fed by Red Cross canteen stations.

RATIONING OF GAS UP TO PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Expected to Discuss Proposal With Cabinet Friday

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—Decision as to whether gasoline rationing should be extended throughout the country as a fire conservation measure rested today with President Roosevelt.

He was expected to discuss the issue, which has aroused a heated controversy in congress, elsewhere, at a cabinet meeting on Friday.

If nationwide rationing is decided upon, it probably would follow the pattern of the program laid down by the Office of Price Administration for the eastern seaboard yesterday to replace the temporary system that expires on July 1.

Three Gallons a Week

Under this plan, all motorists who register on a date yet to be announced will receive a basic coupon ration equivalent to approximately three gallons a week, the present limit for "non-essential" driving.

Extension of rationing to other parts of the country would increase the basic weekly maximum to nearly four gallons, which, at 15 miles a gallon, would allow everyone approximately 2,880 miles of driving a year.

Although Rep. Beiter (D-NY) said he learned in a conversation with Petroleum Coordinator Ickes that nationwide rationing would be instituted on July 15, Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, declared no final decision had been made.

Here is the way the program for the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia will work:

All drivers must register again before July 15. On registering, they will receive an "A" card containing 48 coupons divided into six sections of eight coupons each.

DUTCH HARBOR DAMAGE LIGHT, NAVY REPORTS

Second Wave of Enemy Warplanes Engaged In Reconnaissance

BELIEVE PLANES CAME FROM CARRIER

Defenses from Aleutians to Panama Are Put On Alert

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—Secretary Stimson predicted today that yesterday's Japanese air attacks on the Dutch Harbor naval base in Alaska were "not the only and last raids" to be expected on American territory.

The war department chief told his press conference, "I reminded you last week that raids were coming and I caution you now this is not the only and last raids."

Stimson declined, however, to predict where further attacks might be expected, telling a questioner he did not "care to go into that phase of the Japanese minds," and similarly fended off a question as to why the foe struck first at the Aleutian outpost.

His guarded comment came just before a scheduled communique by the navy and he referred to this as the proper source of information, commenting, "you can readily see how the navy's judgment as to secrecy must be paramount."

Situation Quiet

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The navy, describing the situation at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, as quiet at present, reported today that the second wave of enemy planes which flew over the base yesterday failed to drop bombs and probably was engaged only in reconnaissance.

A communique declared total damage at the base was not extensive and fires were quickly extinguished after the initial raid yesterday morning.

While the source of the attacking aircraft has not been definitely determined, the communique said, they are believed to have been carrier-based.

The communique also announced the loss of the USS Cythera, a small naval patrol vessel, in the Atlantic area and said that next of kin of personnel aboard the converted yacht had been notified.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN OF 1942

The forgotten man changes, but the more he changes the more he is the same—the fellow who eternally gets the short end of things. Right now he is the small wage earner, the guy with the almost white collar who is getting it in the neck from all directions, with no relief in sight. He isn't getting any of that time and a half for overtime because he's working at the same old white collar job. He doesn't have a war contract, and he's not lucky enough to be working for one of those share-the-wealth concerns that pay bookkeepers $10,000 a year in bonuses.

He's just the little operator who kept his nose clean, bought all the insurance he could carry so he and his family would have something to fall back on and is putting every cent he can snatch from the budget into War Stamps and Bonds. Every time he looks at the paper he discovers that the tax "experts" (all of whom make more than $10,000 a year) are thinking about sweating more money out of him, but even they have forgotten that you can't get blood out of a turnip. The other day he noticed that someone thought he should be given credit on his income tax for insurance premiums, but he will give you five to one in War Stamps that he hasn't panted in his book yet that nothing will come of that. He's the forgotten man.

CONTINENTAL SOLIDARITY

When mouth-filling phrases become history-filling facts, that too is news. Perhaps the most important military event in May from the viewpoint of the United States was Mexico's decision to declare war; President Camacho completed the formalities on June 1. Thus did continental solidarity for military purposes become a reality.

Behind it lay years of patient spade-work, heading up in the good neighbor policy of the Roosevelt administration. Only when it is remembered that in World War I Mexico was a paradise for German spies and agents can it be appreciated how much different things are today. The transformation carries a moral, furthermore.

In 1914, through the other war, Mexico was politically weak—a pushover for sucker diplomacy. It had no tradition of stability or responsibility; its politicians had everything to gain and nothing to lose by following a policy of expediency and corruption. In the post-war years, sometimes with and sometimes without the help of the United States, Mexico matured.

In this war it could fashion its policy for the years to come. Its leaders and its people knew that continental solidarity was more than an empty phrase and that it could be made one of the major facts of modern history. Of all the nations to the south, only Argentina and Chile now maintain diplomatic relations with the Axis. All the Central American governments have declared war. Mexico's declaration may stiffen the resistance of the South American republics. The Americas are demonstrating how a continent can achieve solidarity without domination or conquest.

IF PAPERWADS COULD KILL

Recently in a description of the tremendous number of government reports that private enterprise must make out—the "bookkeeping blitz"—United States News, which specializes in government information, said there "still is a mystery about who reads the millions of reports that pour into the capitol."

This is something a lot of businessmen have wondered about. The reports are one of their major headaches; they are complicated and costly. Their psychological effect, moreover, is bad because it amounts to reminding the managers of private enterprise 24 hours a day that in order to stay in business they must do what the government tells them to do, whether it makes sense or not.

But there is an obvious remedy for all this. It would take only a few thousand hours of additional time from the war effort for the government to explain what is done with the tons of documents it is receiving. Plainly, it is impossible to read them, or if they could be read to assimilate the information they contain. One businessman tells about seeing them dumped by bales into bins, but that's only part of the answer. What became of them then? It's something for that office of facts and figures everybody has heard so much about to look into without further delay.

DECISION AT KHARKOV

Two things about the military issue at Kharkov are plain. The Russians have not been able to take the city, and the Germans have held it at heavy cost.

It is apparent that the cost was heavy enough to throw a wrench in that spring offensive that meant so much to Adolf Hitler. If that be true, the Russians have won a moral victory.

Everything possible is being done by Russia and Germany to conceal the truth about developments in their colossal war; the interested spectators are granted only the privilege of guessing what happens. When uncertainty is compounded by mutual admissions of a standoff, which is the tone of both sides' communiques on Kharkov, even guessing is discouraged. Nevertheless, because so much depends on it, some tentative conclusion must be reached. It looks as though the Russian drive on Kharkov had a bad effect on Germany's plans for a spring offensive.

TEXAS LEAGUERS ON COLOGNE, ESSEN ETC.

Attempts to explain British air raid tactics by maps and statistics are well meant, but to baseball-wise Americans superfluous. The thing is as clear as a cleanly hit single over the second basemen's head.

What the R. A. F. must do is clear the German interceptor squadrons along the invasion coast. Once past that infold hazard, they have the whole outfield range for their long-distance high explosive slugging. What lacked the Germans trying the same thing was the relative smallness of the British target.

Not every raid will be as successful as the blows at Cologne and Essen were reported to be. Some of them, like the long drives in baseball, will be so much wasted effort. But by the same token that a slugging team is bound to win a lot of games by hitting them where they aren't, the R. A. F. is bound to catch the German defenses off balance more often than not with its mass raids.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, June 5

DESPITE SOME restrictive and restraining elements this should be a day of unusual enterprise and initiative to launch fresh projects or put over new programs for meeting obligations, financial or otherwise. All may move at high tempo toward this end, although with but little support or encouragement from those in power.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an unusually exciting, active and constructive year, with many things having a progressive spurt in a new directions or new programs or propositions. These should move at a lively pace despite lack of cooperation from those in influence or high position, as well as other tenacious obstacles. There will be compensation for this from friendly female relatives or those of closer ties.

A child born on this day should be possessed of great productive capacity and versatility of practical and constructive quality.

PROBLEMS OF NATIONAL NUTRITION

They Increase In Present War of Movement

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SOME MONTHS ago I spoke of the concentrated rations with which the Army is experimenting for soldiers in the field. This is the summation of an old dream. One of the elements in slowing up a military attack is that the fighting units have to wait for the food wagon. They have to pause in their forward movement until the supply kitchens come up in order to give them enough energy to carry on.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

As far back as the Civil war the Quartermaster corps began to experiment with concentrated rations which could be put in a small package and made light enough for the soldier to carry in his marching kit. During World War I this was not a very pressing problem because the armies and trenches were pretty well stabilized, but the present war of movement has made it highly desirable to have some such ration.

Concentrated Rations

It has not been possible either, in previous years, to construct such a ration scientifically because it has only been within the last ten years that we have realized the highly important part that the vitamins play in nutrition and a concentrated ration is naturally made up of processed foods which do not contain any vitamin unless they are added deliberately.

Now, however, with our knowledge of synthetic chemistry we can make crystalline vitamins and add them to processed food so that it takes on the qualities of natural food. I am informed that these concentrated rations are now perfected and available for combat troops.

The concentrated army ration is made in two forms, one in a small package about 2 x 3 inches which is known as United States Army Field Ration D. This contains a lump of food made up of chocolate, sugar, flour, milk, vanilla and vitamin B1 concentrate. It can be crumbled up and dissolved in water and furnishes about 1800 calories.

Soup by the Yard?

The use of dried foods is a new development which has been made possible by technical advances and since it is probable that the United States will have to feed the world for the next 50 years and we cannot afford to transport water, you may get into the habit of buying your soup by the yard.

There are two other forms of United States Army Field Rations—K and C—both of them somewhat more elaborate and having a higher caloric content and acting more like food than ration D. Ration K is divided into breakfast, dinner and supper units and has pork, graham crackers, coffee, sugar, malted milk, dextrose tablets for quick energy and also chewing gum.

A great deal of ingenuity has gone into the making of these rations such as, for instance, the production of butter that will not melt at body temperature. So far as I can see, they are entirely scientific and contain a full ration of food. The only fault that might be found with them is that they possibly are not as filling as regular food, but for a three- or four-day stretch this is not seriously inconvenient.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. P.—"Is being left-handed inherited or just a habit?"

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acid and poisonous waste. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause dragging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

N. Georgetown Club Entertained

The North Georgetown Women's club was entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Lewis Stoller in North Georgetown, with 17 members and one guest, Mrs. Jerry Crum, present.

After a short business session, Mrs. A. R. Hoskins, who was in charge of the program under the garden department, called the roll, which was answered with floral displays, prizes going to Mrs. Charles Antram and Mrs. Homer Powell.

A paper prepared by Mrs. Ralph Wang, "Well-planned Vegetable and Flower Garden," was read by Mrs. Ralph Bradley, Mrs. Charles Antram, and Mrs. A. V. Smith. "To a Wild Rose," a paper, "Bread For The Body and Flowers For The Soul," was read by Mrs. Rena Whitehead. Winners of the floral guessing contest included Mrs. Paul Barnett and Mrs. Charles Antram.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Homer Powell, Mrs. A. R. Hoskins, and Mrs. Lewis Stoller.

The next meeting will be the annual picnic for members and their families to be held Saturday evening, July 11, at Westville Lake.

Mrs. Kloetzly Hostess To Church Group

Group 4 of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church held a birthday dinner yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. E. Kloetzly on the township line rd. with 24 members and four guests present.

The dinner, which was served by the hostess and her committee, was followed by a short business meeting.

The program, which was in charge of Mrs. Thomas Young, included a reading, "Women Must Lead at Home," by Mrs. E. H. Ward; and several guessing contests.

The next meeting will be held July 1 at the home of Mrs. Ira Burton of the Goshen rd.

Group 2 Members at Hoskins Home

Group 2 of the Women's Society of Christian Service met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Frank Hoskins, with 15 members present.

Mrs. Willis Hole had charge of the devotion, and Mrs. A. V. Smith and Mrs. F. A. Hoskins had charge of the program, which consisted of poems on Mother's Day.

A lunch was served by the hostess and her associate, Mrs. Ura Hopkins. The next meeting will take the form of a picnic, to be held July 8 at the home of Mrs. Willis Hole on the Ellsworth rd.

STIMSON EXPECTS MORE BOMB RAIDS

Japs' Damage To Dutch Harbor Is Light, Navy Reports

The Japanese air raid on the United States naval base at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, shifted the focus of Pacific war to North America itself today and put defenses from the Aleutian inlands to Panama on the alert against further thrusts.

Brief official reports of the first air attack on North American soil failed to indicate immediately whether they were mere hit-and-run blows or the opening phase of an organized grand assault on the northwestern stepping stone to Canada and the United States.

But Anthony J. Dimond, Alaskan delegate to Congress, gave this warning:

Fears Real Struggle
"I am afraid we may have a struggle on our hands to keep that area."

The first attack was by four Japanese bombers and about 15 fighters. At 6 a. m. Alaska time (noon eastern war time) yesterday, and lasted about 15 minutes.

"A few warehouses were set on fire but no serious damage was suffered," the navy announced. "There were but few casualties."

The second Jap visit was made at about noon, Alaska time (6 p. m. Eastern War Time), six hours after the initial attack, the navy said.

Dimond said he had heard nothing direct from Alaska on the raids, but expressed fear that there were too few defending planes to beat back a sustained series of attacks in case the Japanese opened a big-scale offensive such as the Philippines invasion.

Civilian defense leaders at Seattle warned the public to check air raid instructions and prepare for a possible blackout in California.

The Los Angeles county defense council issued an emergency alert, calling for sharp vigilance and readiness for instant action.

Military authorities at Balboa cancelled all leaves and passes of soldiers and sailors in the Panama Canal zone. The alert status there was intensified.

Experts said the Japanese fighters in the first raid must have come from a carrier, but there was a possibility that the bombers came from a land base. Dutch harbor is about 1,800 miles from the northwestern of the Kurile islands which stretch northward from Japan proper.

Unalaska island, on which Dutch harbor is situated, is nearly 1,000 miles from the westernmost of the Aleutians, which in turn is some 700 miles from the nearest of the Japanese Kuriles.

Pending any official word to the contrary, Washington was inclined to regard the raids as either token reprisals for the recent American bombings of Japan or as thrusts to test American defenses.

Helen Lora Hostess To N. T. G. Club

Helen Lora entertained members of the N. T. G. club last night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frederick Limestone, Woodland ave.

The evening was spent playing bridge, with prizes going to Mrs. Drex Knodler and Miss Tilly Fleischer.

The next meeting will be July 7 at the home of Florence Knepper of Eastna st.

1,600 Suits Stolen

CINCINNATI, June 4.—Five merchants, reporting an aggregate loss of some 1,600 men's suits, signed 10 warrants charging receipt of stolen goods, sending officers in quest of merchandise valued in excess of $50,000. Detective Capt. Patrick Hayes, reporting recovery of 452 men's suits, said the clothing was taken in Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky and disposed of here and in Chicago.

ONE KILLED WHEN SCAFFOLDING FALLS

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 4.—One man was killed and another was critically injured when a scaffold collapsed while they were painting structural steel at a new plant under construction for the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co., at nearby Midland, Wednesday.
Raymond Biegsky, 24, of Midway, Ky., died in City hospital here of head injuries.
Ralph Devos, 30, of Smithfield, O., who was critically injured, is expected to die. He suffered head and internal injuries.
Harry Rankin, manager of the Ohio Painting & Sheet Co., of Wellsville, in charge of the job, saved himself by grasping a rope when the scaffold gave way.

All Gravy For Party Boys-- If Hitler Should Win War

Party Button, Lochner Reveals, Will Open Doors To All Positions and All Graft

(Here's another important story by the famous Wide World foreign correspondent, Louis P. Lochner, giving "inside" information on Germany, which has been cloaked under a heavy censorship since Hitler started the World war. He has just returned to this country.)

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
NEW YORK, June 4.—(Wide World).—It's all gravy for the Hitler boys—if the fuhrer should win the war. The Nazi party will be in more complete control of the country than ever, and the party button will open the doors to all positions, all graft, all swag.

There probably would be one grand purge first, during which all those members who have rendered mere lip service to the regime would be ousted as dramatically as were Ernst Roehm and other Nazi leaders during the famed June purge of 1934. But whoever survived such a purge and remained a party member in good standing might look forward to a life of power, plenty, and possession.

Notes Army Popularity
During the first two years of the war the army seemed temporarily to eclipse the party and its formations. But Hitler was quick to see this. His top men like Goebbels and Himmler, jealous of the party's power, were, perhaps, even quicker to sense it.

The army with its thrust through Poland, its blitz victory in the west, and its conquest in Yugoslavia and Greece appealed more to the public imagination than the brown-shirted, rather pot-bellied Nazi ward heeler who remained at home to organize the distribution of food cards, check up on the loyalty of the population, and render other service far from the din and danger of battle.

No sooner did the top men notice how the party was slipping in popularity than they began to play up the exploits of party functionaries in the Goebbels-controlled press. There were articles to prove that the majority of the brown-shirts were playing a heroic role at the front, that the black-uniformed SS was in the vanguard in every military undertaking requiring courage and fearlessness, that the party was taking upon itself the thankless role of unostentatious heroism at the home front.

At home, too, the party was more and more intrinsically itself. An American business man returning with us on the Drottningholm told me this story which I repeat, not because it is unusual but because it is typical of what I learned again before my interment almost six months ago:

Draws Stiff Fine
"My brother-in-law," this man said, "a German manufacturer in Munich, in 1938 bought up an old mercy-go-round solely to use the brass for manufacturing purposes. He neglected to report the deal to the economics ministry. Recently this oversight was discovered by the authorities, my brother-in-law was indicted and fined 250,000 marks (equivalent to $100,000).

"My brother-in-law pleaded with the judge to moderate the severity of the sentence. 'Are you,' perhaps, a party member?' the judge asked. "Sorry, but I never got around to that. I've tended to my business and haven't bothered about politics."

"That's too bad," the judge observed. "You see, if you were a party member, the presumption would be that your patriotism is beyond the shadow of a doubt, wherefore your failure to report the brass gained from the carousel may be presumed to be a mere oversight. The fact that you are not a party member throws doubt on your loyalty, and we must assume you tried to cheat the government. So you must pay the full fine."

Notes Ominous Signs
During the last months of my stay in Germany I noted one more ominous and portentous sign of Hitler's determination to make the party even more dominant after the completion of the war than it now is.

Reich's Justice Minister Hans Frank, who is also governor-general of Poland, has on more than one occasion stated that in Germany two kinds of justice prevail—

At home, too, the party was more and more intrinsically itself. An American business man returning with us on the Drottningholm told me this story which I repeat, not because it is unusual but because it is typical of what I learned again before my interment almost six months ago:

Draws Stiff Fine
"My brother-in-law," this man said, "a German manufacturer in Munich, in 1938 bought up an old for the men or woman who belongs to the party or one of its numerous subsidiaries, and for the hapless individual who hasn't embraced the Nazi faith. The latter, like the Jew in Nazi Germany, is usually out of luck.

At all sorts strategic intersections of Berlin—on corners like Kurfürstendamm and Uhlandstrasse, to mention but one example—the Gestapo was removing the tenants of corner buildings and putting SS families in their stead. And the ground-floor corner flat was converted into an SS stronghold, with machine guns and hand grenades and other instrumentalities for waging civil war in case of an uprising.

Soldiers returning to Berlin on furlough had no illusions as to the significance of these SS posts. "We know perfectly well that after we've done our duty we shall be swept into the discard," they would say in a tone of resignation. "We'll probably be dismissed as we reach the gates of our hometowns. Then the party will again take control of the situation, and the SS will see to it that discipline is maintained."

$11,000 IS PAID IN CIGARET LICENSES

LISBON, June 4. — Retail and wholesale dealers handling cigarettes in Columbiana county have paid in approximately $11,000 in vendor's license fees to date this year, Auditor Ross Tisher announced today.

While May 25 was the deadline for securing new vending licenses, only 424 retail certificates have been issued as compared to 458 for the corresponding period last year and a total of 502 for the entire year of 1941. In addition to the retail licenses issued at a fee of $25 each, four wholesale permits have been issued at a fee of $100 for the year.

edly scoffed at such overtures through five bloody years of war with Japan, said 50,000 Japanese troops were being thrown into the Kiangsi-Chekiang railway which leads into the heart of China.

High-lighting the gravity of China's peril, two top-ranking American officers in the far Pacific arrived in Chungking by plane for conferences with Generalissimo Chiang. They are Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commander of Chinese forces in the lost battle of Burma, and Maj.-Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, commander of U. S. army air forces in India.

Meanwhile, the British war office disclosed new evidence that Japan may have been planning to seize the strategic French island of Madagascar, off the coast of south-east Africa, now partly occupied by British troops.

The war office said two Japanese naval officers had been shot by a British patrol Monday at a village north of the British-held Diego Suarez naval base.

"When called upon to surrender, they opened fire on the British patrol and were shot," the war office announced.

derbolt to Hitler's circle of leaders and had touched off arrests in the German capital itself.

(So important was the case that Himmler was said in the Tass dispatch to have notified Hitler of the attack in an urgent telephone call.)

"The bloodiest of all the bloody Nazis."

That was the hated sobriquet applied to Reinhard Heydrich, the Gestapo's second in command, by Europe's oppressed millions.

For his ruthless application of repressive measures—usually the firing squad or the hangman's noose—against those who dared to challenge their Nazi conquerors, the hard-bitten, 38-year-old Heydrich also became known by the equally dubious title of "Der Henker," or hangman.

An early convert to Nazism, Heydrich was little known to the world generally until the fall of 1941 when Hitler sent him to Prague to quell a rising tide of Czech unrest. There he succeeded the doddering Baron Konstantin Neurath as "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia.

TWO JAP OFFICERS ARE REPORTED SHOT

LONDON, June 4.—A British war office announcement today that two Japanese naval officers had been shot by a British patrol in Madagascar was regarded here as further proof that the Japanese were planning to take over that large French island when the British themselves moved in.

The officers, one source said, apparently were assigned to make plans of the naval base at Diego Suarez to prepare the way for a Japanese landing.

The British forces in Madagascar, informed persons said, are consolidating their positions around Diego Suarez and there were no reports of British troop movements outside the area of the naval base.

It was in that area, in a village north of Diego Suarez, that the two Japanese were shot last Monday.

Cameron will give the invocation and pronounce the benediction.

ROUT AXIS TROOPS IN DESERT BATTLE

British Armored Forces
Victors In Fierce
Engagement

(By Associated Press)

CAIRO, Egypt, June 2.—British imperial armored forces were reported today to have routed Axis soldiers from a desert stronghold in a fierce engagement while their Free French allies held fast against efforts by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel to seize the key position of Bir Hacheim.

A Middle East command communiqué said British forces, attacking at the "last light of June 2," drove the enemy out of Tamar, 21 miles southwest of Tobruk, and six miles west of Knightsbridge.

"The enemy is known to have lost at least 14 tanks in this engagement," the communiqué declared.

Force of Free French

There are British Indian troops at Bir Hacheim, but British sources said the main force consists of Free French metropolitan troops plus a battalion of French Foreign Legion which now is about 85 per cent French.

A communiqué said British forces holding the left flank of the severed Ain El Gazala-Bir Hacheim line repulsed an assault by German and Italian mechanized units, which were then attacked in the rear by roving imperial forces yesterday.

"A large number of Stukas (dive-bombers) also attacked Bir Hacheim and were successfully engaged by our air forces," the bulletin added.

The communiqué made no reference to the situation developing north of Bir Hacheim, where Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored columns previously had been reported attempting to widen a nine-mile breach in the British line through which the Axis leader was feeding supplies to his hard-pressed forces at Tamar.

The Germans were reported to be making furious tank assaults on both walls of the narrow corridor and it appeared that Rommel had thrown the full weight of his mechanized equipment into an effort to smash the British line.

Bombard Corridor

The British concentrated a heavy artillery bombardment on the corridor from north and south, and RAF planes blasted Axis forces moving into the breach.

The southern wall of the gap in the British lines was reported yesterday to be about 12 miles north of Bir Hacheim. A German armored column swept around here last week.

Part of this column still is engaged in the vicinity of Knightsbridge, desert trail junction 15 miles southwest of Tobruk.

In an effort to smash this spearhead the British were bringing up fresh troops, heavy artillery, anti-tank guns and tanks.

The thunder of the battle, the most intense in more than a year and one-half of desert fighting, could be heard for many miles.

Potters To Hold
Meeting, Picnic

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 4.—The National Brotherhood of Operative Potters today set June 29 for opening of its annual convention at Atlantic City.

Trade problems will be discussed but no wage proposals will be considered because the union recently signed a new agreement with the United States Potter's association providing for pay increases.

Officers, who are chosen by direct vote of the 20,000 members of the union, were elected last year for two-year tenures.

The potters' 18th annual reunion will be held June 13 at Meyers Lake park, Canton.

A baseball game between Hall China Co., 1941 champions of the East Liverpool City league, and the Wheeling, W. Va., Warwick China club will highlight the sports program at the picnic.

Boxing bouts, races and novelty events also will be featured. Other diversions include a bathing beauty contest for children, penny scramble, dancing, etc.

Picnickers will depend upon privately owned automobiles for transportation from eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia, because of wartime restrictions on train and bus travel.

Bonham Halts White Sox, 4-1, For Eighth Straight Triumph

ACE MISSES FIFTH SHUTOUT; JOLTIN' JOE BLASTS HOMER

Kuhels Blow Accounts for Sox Run; Nats Are Beaten, 9-5

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Ernie Bonham, the undefeated righthanded pitching star of the New York Yankees, is getting too good for his own good. Jumbo won his eighth straight game yesterday, 4-1, at the expense of the Chicago White Sox. He kept eight hits scattered, walked only two, and would have had a shutout except for a homer by Joe Kuhel in the seventh.

This pitching almost certainly would have satisfied the supporters of any other hurler in the majors, but the onlookers at Yankee Stadium sized it up as one of Bonham's poorest performances of the season.

In the first place it wasn't a shutout. The big fellow had administered four of these in his first seven starts and by the time he had laid six goose-eggs end to end yesterday some of the boys figured she should have had another.

It was the first time this year he had allowed more than seven hits. And those two bases on balls, tsk, tsk. He had yielded only five passes in seven games previously, and two in one game surely was slipping.

Joe Gets Homer
Joltin' Joe DiMaggio interrupted his batting slump to produce a three-run homer (his tenth of the season) for the margin of victory in the third inning.

The Philadelphia Athletics brought the Detroit Tigers to a sudden stop with a 5-1 decision on Jack Knott's six-hit hurling.

The St. Louis Browns routed Sid Hudson with an eight-run assault in the second inning and went on to whip Washington, 9-5, dropping the Senators into the American league cellar.

In the National league the Pittsburgh Pirates received a reprieve from the weather man.

Meanwhile the Boston Braves moved a game closer to the second-place Cardinals by capturing a 4-3 twilight struggle at St. Louis played before 11,447 fans for the benefit of the army and navy relief funds.

Frank (Rube) Melton pitched and batted the Phils to a 2-1 tenth-inning triumph over the Cincinnati Reds in a night game. He spaced six hits and doubled home the winning run. Big Paul Derringer pitched five-hit ball, but his teammates committed four errors.

DE RIENZO'S STOP NORTH SIDE, 19-4

DeRienzo's softballs tripped the North Siders at Rely field recently, 19-4, after running up an 11-0 lead in the first four frames. DeCrow, hurling for the winners, gave up but seven hits as he held the North enders scoreless until the seventh inning.

Several hitters shared the hitting honors with Arment taking top share with a homer and a single. Charnesky paced the losers with two doubles in four trips.

Cain was hit hard by DeRienzo's who racked up 15 safeties in the course of the battle. The winners' attack hit its peak in the eighth inning when eight runs sped across the plate to make the game even more lopsided.

SPORTS AUTHORITY ADVISES LINKSMEN ON BALL SITUATION

Cleveland Claims Stock Will Last Through Next Summer

CLEVELAND.—J. S. Newman, prominent Cleveland distributor and sports equipment authority, advises golfers to stop worrying, that they will be able to continue play all of this summer and next summer, too.

Newman is "positive" that there are enough golf balls in circulation to "keep the game of golf alive for at least two years," and he says "that by that time the artificial rubber supply should afford enough rubber to start production again."

However, Newman does see a great many changes in the individual golfers' attitudes and actions. "For one thing," he pointed out, "practically every golfer is going to be like the Scotchman who retires from the game when he loses his ball."

Re-Capping Major Factor
"Golfers are going to be more cautious and less particular," he said.

He predicted that they'll be more cautious in their treatment of balls and their attempts not to cut them; less particular about using recapped balls.

The re-cap business, according to Newman, is neither large nor profitable, but is going to be the major factor in keeping "thousands of dozens" of balls in circulation.

"There always was a used-golf-ball industry," he said. "For years organized companies have bought used balls from caddies, professionals, and people who live in the neighborhood of golf courses. They washed and painted them and put them back on the market."

Employ Divers
"A good ball," he said, "can lie in water all winter—if it has no deep gashes—and still be recapped." Newman reported that as many as 18,000 balls a year have been recovered from a single water-hazard.

He said that some companies lease the right to hunt balls and some use divers uniforms for recovery purposes.

"Balls always come to life again; there's a very small percentage of them permanently lost," Newman states, as he predicted that every golfer will be combing his locker looking for old balls, relacquering his old ones, and sending the children out "to get rich quick" by finding others.

Although he is convinced of the sufficiency of the two-year supply, and not worried after that time, he foresees the transformation of some golf course to landing fields and other war purposes. He pointed out the Navy's recent acquisition of the St. Alban's course in New York for a hospital site.

PLANS FOR PUBLIC LINKS GOLF EVENT STILL UP IN AIR

Annual Tournament to Be Held In Toledo; Dates Still Unsettled

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, June 4.—Ohio's 14th annual public links golf championship is just a bit up in the air.

There are two certainties—it will be held at the Heatherdowns course in Toledo, and all prizes will be in war bonds or stamps—but from there on everything is a toss-up.

Ray Pennell, executive secretary of the Ohio Public Links Golf association, said problems still to be ironed out were the dates, the length of the tournament, and whether the feminine feature of the annual classic would be staged as usual.

To give the "pay-as-you-play" boys and girls a chance to get away from their jobs, without taking too much time off for golfing, the tournament has always been held on a Saturday and Sunday, with the men traveling a 72-hole route and the women 36.

Some time ago Pennell suggested the dates of Aug. 8 and 9 for this year, but the Toledo district association, in making up its 1942 program, found those dates unsuitable. The association announced the meet would be held June 18 and 19, but since those dates fall on Thursday and Friday, the association probably meant July 18 and 19—a Saturday and Sunday.

Anyway, the date hasn't been settled, but probably rests between the July 18-19 or the Aug. 8-9 week ends. Now a new problem crops up. Toledo officials, declaring many of their publiclinksters are involved in defense factory work, with most of them on a six-day schedule, said they thought the tourney should be limited to a single day with 35 holes of medal play.

May Drop Women's Tourney
Pennell said he was willing to go along with that idea, since probably the same defense work situation prevailed all over the state. That change, however, jeopardizes the fourth annual women's tournament, said Pennell expressing doubt that the Heatherdowns course would care to tie up both its private and public layouts for an entire Sunday.

Original plans called for the women to play 18 holes Saturday morning, and 18 Sunday afternoon, over the Heatherdowns private course, while the men would play 36 each day over the public layout. The two tournaments could not be crowded on a single course, Pennell said, if played in a single day.

"Perhaps we could play the men 36 holes over the public course, and the women 18 over the private course Sunday afternoon," Pennell said, "thus cutting the tournament in half."

Pennell is contacting members of the executive board of the association, and hopes to have the details ironed out in a few days.

"There'll be a tournament," he declared, "and I don't expect the entry list to be cut much." Most of our boys and girls' team up in automobiles to get there anyway, so tire and gasoline rationing wouldn't hurt us much."

Dick Ryan of Columbus is the defending men's champion, while Mrs. P. J. Linster of Mansfield had eclipsed the feminine field the last two years.

Escapes From Nazis

D. C. T. Bennett
Former superintendent of the Atlantic Ferry organization, Wing Commander D. C. T. Bennett, above, has arrived back in Britain after escaping from Norway where he was captured by the Germans when his bomber was shot down near Trondheim in May. Bennett, who led the first transatlantic formation flight of American-made bombers, is a native of Australia.

DERRINGER LOSES IN EXTRA INNINGS

CINCINNATI, June 4.—The Cincinnati Reds' pitching staff ought to sue somebody.

For one thing, they've lost seven of ten extra-inning games played this year, and two of them in the past two days. After Tuesday's 1-0 ten-inning defeat by the Phils, they suffered similarly last night in the same stretch, 2 to 1, Paul Derringer was the victim.

Dan Murtaugh's double and three Red errors made one Philadelphia run in the fourth, and a single and Pitcher Frank Melton's double the other in the tenth.

A walk, a wild pitch, and Eddie Joost's double gave the Reds their only score in the fifth.

"Today's an off day. The Boston Braves come tomorrow for six games, starting with a doubleheader."

SEASON'S TOUGHEST TEST FACES TRIBE

BOSTON, June 4.—Jim Bagby, top winner for the second-place Cleveland Indians, was called on today to lead the mound staff into its toughest test of the season.

The Redskins climbed into the American league runner-up spot the easy way yesterday when they were weathered out of a game. Detroit lost to Philadelphia and dropped to .540, three points behind Cleveland.

After today's battle with fourth-place Boston, the Tribe moves to New York for five games in four days with the world champion Yankees.

Leetonia Star Signs With East Palestine Ball Club

William Oliver, graduate of Leetonia High school 1942, has signed to hurl for the East Palestine American Legion nine. Oliver, a husky right hander, was a member of the Legion team last season as well as a member of the Leetonia High squad.

In two years on the mound, his combined record for the two clubs reads 33 wins and seven losses while his earned run average is 2.84. He has averaged 15 strikeouts per game during that stretch of time and on August 3 last season, he broke the Ohio American junior Legion mark in a contest at Niles when he whiffed 23 men.

Oliver was also a star end on the Leetonia grid squad last season.

BRONKO NAGURSKI, EX-ALL-AMERICAN, ENDS LONG CAREER

"Legs Can't Stand Gaff", Says Pro Wrestler On Retiring

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Bronko Nagurski, the only football player ever to be named to two positions on the same All-America team, has ended his athletic career in the state where it began.

After 2 years of competition in football and wrestling, Nagurski called sportswriters to his dressing room after a charity wrestling program here and said:

"I'm all through."

"My legs can't stand the gaff. My knees have been injured so many times they can't stand the strain. If I don't quit now, I may wind up a cripple. Money doesn't mean that much to me."

Fullback and Tackle
But "The Nag" isn't broke. He has a nice nest egg and owns a small farm, where he will retire.

Born Nov. 3, 1908, in the rugged country near Rainy River, Ontario, Canada, Nagurski first gained fame playing football at International Falls high school.

At the University of Minnesota, Nagurski won three letters in football, playing tackle on defense and fullback on offense.

He was so outstanding at both positions that a New York newspaper named 10 men on its 1929 All-American team.

Nagurski was placed at both tackle and fullback. He also was named on virtually every other All-American team.

Claimed World Title
Nagurski played four years of professional football with the Chicago Bears before he began a career of professional wrestling in 1933 and claimed the world's championship three times.

In a poll conducted by the St. Paul (Minn.) Dispatch in 1938, Nagurski was named Minnesota's outstanding athlete of all time.

Dr. C. W. Spears, University of Minnesota coach from 1925 through 1929, said Nagurski is "the greatest of all time. All-America football player I ever saw. He could play any position and do more things than any other player. I know about Thorpe, Nevers, Grange and all the others of the past 30 years, but I'll take Nagurski."

Minnesota football followers like to tell about the Minnesota-Wisconsin game at Madison in 1928.

Singlehanded Victory
Nagurski had received a fractured vertebra a month earlier and was wearing a special steel corset to protect his back. Trussed up as he was the Nag tackled Russ Rehbolz, so hard he fumbled the ball. Bronko recovered and punched over the winning touchdown in three plays from 17 yards.

In the same game he overtook Bo Cusinsier, a fast open field runner, three times when Bo was clear for touchdown runs. He also intercepted two passes on Minnesota's goal line. Minnesota won, 6 to 0.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR. (By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 4.—When Herve Lascelles visited Germany in 1936 as a bantamweight scrapper on the Canadian Olympic boxing team he was eliminated in the first round by Ortiz of Mexico. . . . The other night Herve went back to Germany as pilot officer in the Royal Canadian Air Force. . . . They say he got a better decision at Cologne. . . . Pancho Snyder, the Jersey City Giants' manager, occupies an upper berth just like the rawest rookie when his club takes the road. . . . "I don't ask anybody on my club to do anything I won't do myself," he explains. . . . Lee Farmer, Iowa's sprint and broad-jump champ, was a star in High school basketball and does all right in baseball, boxing, wrestling, horseshoe pitching, tennis, checkers and table tennis—and he reached the quarter finals of the national marbles tournament at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933.

Service Dept.
Ed Fruitig, the big end who use to get air sick every time the Green Bay Packers made a trip by plane, has just earned his wings in the naval air corps. . . . Pvt. Cecil Travis, former Washington infielder, reports that his Senator sidekick, Buddy Lewis, is impatient to get into the air. Buddy started out at Fort Knox, Ky., in the armored force but has shifted to Kelly Field, Tex., to become an air cadet. . . .

Capt. Jay Vessels, who used to cover a lot of football for the AP, came east from Minneapolis for a new assignment with the army air forces, and had just about convinced the boys that Minnesota football is the best brand anywhere when he ran into Lieut. Al Beane. . . . Then Jay remembered that Al hadn't been so bad himself in a couple of games with Albie Booth's Yale team, which Capt. Vessels had watched from the press box some years ago. . . .

Eyes at War Work

CAUTION—eyes at work need good light!

Eyes used for knitting, sewing, reading, studying—work contributing to the Victory program—should be carefully safeguarded against strain. Now, more than ever, it is important to protect precious eyes by providing the RIGHT LIGHT in your home and other work centers.

Therefore—use fresh bulbs of the right size in all your reading lamps and lighting fixtures. That's the simple, practical way to protect your family's eyes. It's a wise thing, too, to inspect all light bulbs periodically, cleaning them or replacing those that have become blackened from use. (Blackened bulbs rob you of light.) Use blackened bulbs only where there is no close visual work.

Convert electricity into the best possible lighting. Conserve your eyesight—not your lighting.

ENTRIES POURING IN FOR MAHONING VALLEY GOLF OPEN

Nation's Best Expected To Compete; Booster Prize Listed

YOUNGSTOWN.—Despite presence of virtually all of the flight professionals, the three $5,000 Mahoning Valley Open Tournament last year failed to put extra dollars into the treasury of Owner-Promoter Pete Wellman. He rained every day—still 4,000 turned out for the final session.

But Wellman isn't going to try and make a big haul this year. When the second edition of the $5,000 Mahoning Valley event is staged at the Mahoning Country club June 26-27-28, all of the nation's best shotmakers will be on hand. The entries are coming in fast. Yet Wellman is forking over 50 per cent of the profits at the gate to the Red Cross. "Everyone should help in the war effort," Pete's motto.

Some 50 Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Akron district professionals will be represented in the field of 200. There will be many amateurs with 10 prizes offered for the non-pures. The winner of the National P.G.A. crown will be on hand, also the titleholder in the June 18-20 "Hale America" Tournament at Chicago. It may be the last meet for the duration of the war as Wellman aims to make the best.

To render the meet more interesting there will be several additional angles. Youngstown, Salem, Girard, Niles and Hubbard pros will shoot for a $100 booster prize. Last year Tony Joy and Andy Velican of Youngstown and Warren, respectively, each bagged $40 in this feature. In the coming meet there will be an additional $100—divided into four prizes, $25 going for the low 18-hole score for each round. It's possible for some one to bag both of them in the Sunday 36-hole finale.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—The new Harvard University catalogue has grown to record size with the addition of many wartime courses. Additional studies listed include Japanese, Chinese, German, Russian and military German.

Undivided 1-3 interest in the following described real estate: Situated in the City of Salem, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of Section No. 32, Township 16 and Range No. 2 Beginning at a point in the present east line of the corporation of the city of Salem, eight hundred thirty three (833) feet north of a point found by the intersection of the south line of said section, with the East line of said corporation, run thence north one hundred eighty nine (189) feet; thence north eighty seven (87) degrees thirty three (33) minutes West six hundred sixty nine (669) feet, nine (9) inches to a corner on the east line of a tract of land now or formerly owned by Mrs. Baez, thence south four hundred seventy one (471) feet, nine (9) inches to the north line of a six (6) acre tract now or formerly owned by Mrs. Boyle, thence south eighty six (86) degrees twenty two (22) minutes east three hundred eighty nine and five tenths (389.5) feet more or less, but to a corner formed by the intersection of the west line of a tract of land now or formerly owned by E. B. Bousall, with the north line of the aforesaid Boyle tract, thence north two hundred seventy five (275) feet to a corner, thence east two hundred seventy six (276) feet to the place of beginning, containing five and forty hundredths (5.40) acres of land.

The grantee herein also have the right of increase and excess to said tract as a private right of way from East State Street fifteen (15) feet wide adjoining the east and north line of the Boyle land until some other outlet is obtained, or some street or alley is laid off and opened, near to some part of the land conveyed. Then the right of way here granted is to cease.

The prayer of said petition is for the sale of said premises, for the payment of the debts and charges aforesaid.

The persons first above mentioned will further take notice that they have been made parties defendant to said Petition and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 11th day of July, 1942.

CRIME AT CASTAWAY by EDITH BRISTOL

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

I rested my head on my folded arms on the dressing table and tried to dismiss from my thoughts the events of this exciting day. But they ran through my mind like figures in a long parade that kept going on and on—and never getting anywhere.

The awful picture of Walter Gregg, motionless and still, helpless at the hands of his attacker..... Somebody lurking in the darkness outside my cottage..... Domino so strangely silent..... Durfee with his ready cash laid before his ancient enemy..... Martha Gregg, stand motionless by the window, the spaniels crouched at her feet to tell these women the dreadful news of his employer.....

It was like a series of motion pictures flashed on a screen, each one apparently unrelated to the other, and yet there must be a relation!

And, flashing through my mind, that other scene—Lance Gregg striding into the foreground of the newspaper group, ordering them to turn their cameras away from me..... What did that mean? If it meant anything.

I meant to write in my diary, but was too tired to touch it. I just sat there and nibbled at one corner of that pale, delphinium leather of the binding. The ruined corner confronts me now to remind me of the horrid afternoon.

I'm not sure exactly how long I sat there in the dressing room with my head on my folded arms. It seemed a long time—but everything about me was distorted that day. I know I rested—I may have dozed off for a moment; for the women outside in my bedroom were silent and the late afternoon was very still.

The next thing I heard, and I began to dress as I heard it, was Martha Gregg's deep, matter-of-fact voice, as she spoke to Pauline Dawson.

"All right, Pauline, all right. Have it your own way. It was Mars if you say so. Whatever you say. But Estelle is here now, Pauline. She's very much shocked—almost hysterical. You don't want to upset her any more, do you, Pauline? Of course not! Now, I'll have Issu take you and Florabelle right back to the cabin. He has a great big cake in the car—I had it made for you, Pauline. That's right—both you and Florabelle. Just get right into my car. Issu will drive you home."

"Yes, I'll remember about Mars," I remembered her saying.

I heard Pauline and Florabelle go out and then I opened the dressing room door a crack to watch them. Martha waited until they were gone and then returned to the cottage.

She sighed. I couldn't blame her. I stepped out from the dressing room.

Miss Gregg looked tired—and no wonder. "I came over to see how you were getting along, Miss Lane," she said, "and found you had company. Too bad you were bothered."

"I rested in the dressing room," I explained.

"I can face most everything," Martha said—and there was almost a smile on her grave, tanned face, "but there's one thing I am not equal to. That is bringing Estelle and Pauline together right now. That would be the influence of the planet Mars and no mistake. I came over to tell you that we'd have an early dinner, that the newspaper men and the sheriff have gone—he's left a man on duty in my brother's room—and that the inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon."

Always until now I'd been thinking that newspapers were written about people strange and far away. Nobody I would ever know!

But next day I learned what it was to have the headlines devoted to people I knew. To things I was a part of.

To be truthful, I must admit that the papers were very fair in their treatment of the crime at Castaway. They made the story a sensation, to be sure. But, after all, the murder of a man like Walter Gregg was a sensation. And they did tell only the truth—as far as anyone knew the truth at that time.

The headlines were pretty dreadful reading for us when the city papers reached us next day—the news published the first day had been rather sketchy with only the bare facts. Today, they had every thing. Photographs of the ranch house and of the bedroom where the body was found..... photographs of Martha with her blue-ribbon coils at the Gallina County Fair Horse Show..... candid shots of Estelle and Sydney in theater foyers on first nights..... and still more pictures of Walter Gregg himself..... "From pick and shovel to construction magnate." Even pictures of the sheriff and Domino searching for the missing murder weapon.

And no matter how much we hated it, we couldn't deny that it was all true and made thrilling reading. Only Estelle made much fuss about the publicity. Martha and Lance accepted it philosophically, much as they met most things..... I too, the papers with silent, thanksgiving that my own face and red curls didn't adorn the front pages.

I worked all morning at my typewriter, finishing up the notes for the sheriff, starting some necessary letters for Miss Gregg, Allen and his deputies continued their search of the area near the ranch house for the missing gun—it seemed to me then (and still does) like searching for a very small needle in a very large haystack. Craven was absent from the ranch.

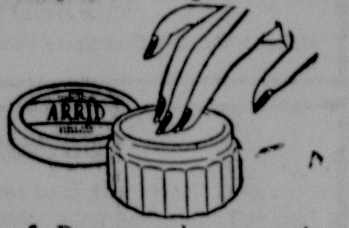

A Mr. Albert Williams—who looked exactly like what he was, a small town lawyer, Gregg's personal attorney—arrived from Gallina and spent several hours in Miss Gregg's sitting room with Martha and Lance and, part of the time, with Estelle.

My typewriter was in the big living room now—the study was still locked and under the sheriff's seal—so I couldn't help but know who came and went and I could see Sydney Loftus, idle and restless, roaming through the big house like a lost soul, now upstairs and now down, lighting each new cigarette from the end of the last one. Loftus' sardonic pose was gone, like a mask removed. A dozen times that morning I saw him cross the patio, watched Domino look up questioningly, sniff at Sydney's heels, then go back to his post by the French window that opened from his master's room.

That window, too, like all the others opening from the suite once occupied by Walter Gregg, was now bolted with a special bar put on under the sheriff's orders.

The conference with Attorney Williams was one part of the Castaway puzzle that I didn't know neared the ordeal of the coroner's investigation.

It was my first visit to Gallina and I had a blurred impression of white houses built for the most part in Spanish style, of green gardens, of a wide plaza in the center of the town, before we turned into a side street and came by a back way to the court house.

I had dreaded the ordeal—but it was not as bad as I feared. I was beginning to think things never are. The coroner was a fat, pudgy little man, dreadfully impressed with his own importance at playing a role in a sensational murder case. But he treated us all as if we had been made out of cut-glass, gave us every possible consideration. All arrangements had been made by Allen to make the investigation easy for us. And even the jury and the Gallina people who packed the small, hot courtroom seemed more sympathetic than curious.

One of the cameramen who was at Castaway the day before lifted his camera in my direction just as we came in—before I could turn away Lance was beside me. "Remember me?" Lance said to the photographer. "I'm the chap you made a bargain with yesterday."

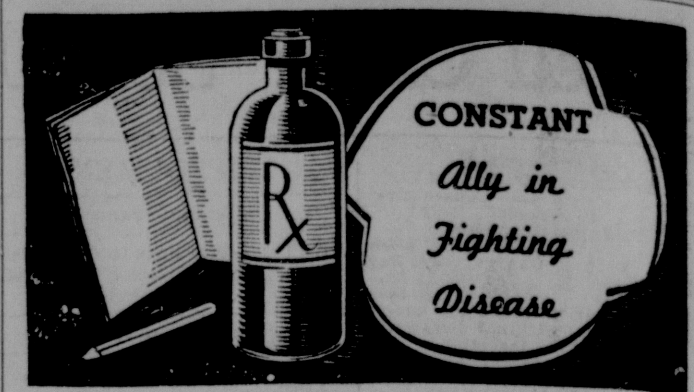

The stocky little cameraman with black hair only grinned and looked smug. I understood that grin better next day when I found my face—with every one of the freckle showing across the bridge of my nose—looking at me in a pose so lifelike it was startling, from the pink front page of an evening paper. He got it, after all, in spite of Lance!
